Hi,

I hope this gets to the right place and actually gets a reply.

Here's the situation, I play/run/develop for pf1e on regular tabletop and Foundry Virtual Tabletop. The other day I ran into an issue in FVTT where Elemental School Spells were not coding correctly in the system. I did a double check with local data vs Archives of Nethys and indeed found a couple of outliers.

The issue arises with Dragon Empires Primer (PZO9421) pg. 29, Void Elemental School, Void Elementalist Wizard Spells: 3rd—*arcane sight, clairaudience/clairvoyance, dispel magic, nondetection, seek thoughts, tapestry's embrace, *twilight knife

The spell "tapestry's embrace" does not exist as a spell anywhere I can find in the pf1 data, AoN or d20pfsrd.

There is an editor's note on d20pfsrd, and a thread in Paizo's community forums that suggest that "tapestry's embrace" was renamed "call the void" (a spell that does exist in pf1) prior to sending for print and the name in the Void list was just an oversight.

So here's the issue, in order to get an official change on Aon, d20pfsrd and FVTT in need an official from Paizo to confirm that the spell name change is indeed what happened and we all should be using "call the void" moving forward.

Hoping to hear from you shortly.

Thank you,

P.S. I realize this is a "retired" system for you, but we still love playing and making things that continue the game.
